

WATTON TOWN COUNCIL

PROCEDURE TO MARK THE DEATH OF A SENIOR NATIONAL FIGURE

Adopted 9th March 2021

It is suggested consideration be given to adopting a procedure to mark the death of a senior national figure or local holder of high office.

Background

- Guidance has been made available for a procedure to follow with the death of the Sovereign, other senior member of the Royal Family, senior national figure or local holders of high office. This procedure is based on guidance issued.
- This procedure should be implemented by the Town Clerk or Deputy Clerk following instruction from the District Council.
- Plans to mark the death of the Sovereign or senior member of the Royal Family must only be implemented after a formal announcement has been made by the Royal Household.
- The day of the death of the Sovereign will be known as D-Day, then D+1, D+2 etc. through the ten days of National Mourning. The state funeral will be on D+10, except if this date falls on a Sunday, when the funeral will be on D+11.
- It might also be appropriate to use elements of the procedure when responding to an incident which has led to many deaths, for example, a train crash or terrorist attack. This would apply if a National Day of Mourning was announced by 10 Downing Street.

Civic Engagements

From the day of death until the day after the funeral, careful thought should be given to the type of events and activities the Town Mayor should host or attend. Lunches, dinners and receptions may not fit in with the mood of the nation and as a mark of respect may need to be cancelled or postponed.

Cancellation of festive events will also need to be considered.

It may be that silence will be kept for other members of the Royal Family, perhaps on the day of the funeral as part of the funeral service. However, action on a silence for members of the Royal Family other than the Sovereign should await an announcement from Buckingham Palace.

The Chairman may wish to lead the silence in an appropriate public place and thought needs to be given as to location, who might be present and how the beginning and end of the silence will be marked (bugle call or similar). Information will be made public through the TC website and social media.

Town Council website

After any official announcement from Buckingham Palace WTC may choose to activate a website holding page with a black background featuring:

- a photograph of the deceased
- the year of birth to the year of death
- links to information such as Church Services, Condolence Books, where to lay flowers

The holding page can be closed, for visitors to access the main homepage. The mourning page should be drafted to be activated as soon as an official announcement is made.

The Proclamation

The correct legal terminology for the death of the Sovereign is “Demise of the Crown”. The new monarch succeeds to the throne immediately on the death of, in this case, the Queen, and is then proclaimed as such after the Accession Council of Privy Councillors meet at St James’ Palace.

In London, the proclamation of the new Sovereign is read from the balcony of St James’ Palace. The Earl Marshall will raise his baton and the state trumpeters will sound a fanfare. The Garter King of Arms will read the proclamation after this brief ceremony comes to an end. The proclamation will be followed by a salute of guns from Hyde Park and a peal of bells from Westminster Abbey. An escort of Household Cavalry in open carriages will go through the streets making the proclamation at Charring Cross, Temple Bar and lastly from the steps of the Royal Exchange. Later in the day, proclamations will be made in Edinburgh, Windsor and York as well as at Guildhalls, Shire Halls and Town Halls throughout the country. At each city and town, the proclamation is made at several different spots according to either tradition or the decision of the relevant Councils. The Common Cryer and Sergeant of Arms to the City of London will follow suit with further proclamations from the Mansion House and Guild Hall.

Hopefully, the text of the proclamation will be easily available, and a watch should be kept on the Buckingham Palace website – www.royal.gov and the Privy Council website – www.privycouncil.org.uk and the National Association of Civic Officers website – www.leicester.go.uk/naco

Proclamation Day takes place soon after the Sovereign’s death, and in 1952 it was 2 days after the King’s death.

Appendix A

The statement should begin with a suitable expression of sadness of the Town Council on hearing the announcement.

If is an occasion when Books of Condolence will be opened, then reference could be made to that.

Reference should also be made as to where residents may lay flowers during the period of mourning. This is suggested to be St. Mary's Churchyard.

Members of the Council will be sent details of any Church Services and notice will be included in the statement.

When a decision has been taken on the Council's programme of events and engagements, it might be stated that events are being cancelled as a mark of respect or that they will begin with a period of silence.

If in doubt, do not rush out a statement with commits the Town Council to action before that action has been discussed and has the necessary agreement from the political leadership.

Appendix B

The wording of the Accession Proclamation will be on the Buckingham Palace website soon after it has been read at St James's Palace on D+1 (D-Day being the day of death), and this is probably the easiest way to get a copy of the reading for D+2.

Suggested Words for the Ceremony:

For the Chairman:

"We come together this afternoon following the passing of our late Sovereign, Queen Elizabeth the Second. Our sadness at this time is shared by people across the globe, as we remember with affection and gratitude the lifetime of service given by our longest serving Monarch. But the basis on which our Monarchy is built has assured that through the centuries the Crown has passed in an unbroken line of succession. Today's ceremony marks the formal Proclamation to the people of Watton and the beginning of our new King's reign.

Yesterday, the Accession Council met at St James Palace to proclaim our new Sovereign.

The Accession Council also made an order requiring High Sheriffs to cause the Proclamation to be read in the areas of their jurisdiction. It was that task which the High Sheriff of the County of Norfolk discharged earlier this afternoon and with my humble duty I now call on The Town Crier to read the Proclamation to the people of Watton.

Ladies and Gentlemen, the Proclamation of the Accession"

TOWN CRIER READS THE PROCLAMATION

At the end of the Proclamation, the Chairman will say "God Save the King."

Official guests/all present will repeat "God Save the King".

If possible one verse of the National Anthem will be played.

Finally, the Chairman will call for three cheers for His Majesty the King.
